

Go: Quality Healthcare is a right of every Filipino

During the first organizational meeting of the Senate Committee on Health and Demography that included a briefing on the country's health situation and healthcare system, committee chair Senator Christopher Lawrence "Bong" Go expressed his concern on the various public health issues the country is presently dealing with.

The challenges presented and discussed during the hearing on Wednesday include the national dengue epidemic, immunization, failed distribution of expired and expiring medicines, and fraudulent claims involving the Philippine Health Insurance Corporation (PhilHealth).

Go emphasized in his opening statement at the hearing that healthcare "must be treated as an intrinsic right of our citizens, not a commodity," referring to the high costs of hospitalization paid by Filipinos once they get admitted to a hospital or have consulted a doctor.

Attended by representatives from the Department of Health (DOH) and PhilHealth, the neophyte senator said that for more than two decades as the aide of the former mayor and, now, President Rodrigo Duterte, he has "witnessed how the lack of access to affordable and quality healthcare brings a lot of pain and suffering to our countrymen."

He also emphasized that many Filipinos "have already resigned their fates to their illnesses because going to the hospital or the doctor is expensive and time consuming."

He further stated that ensuring quality and affordable healthcare for every Filipino is also essential in preserving freedom, social justice and a healthy democracy. This also explains why he had already filed bills that seek to make various government services and programs more affordable, accessible and convenient for the people and in making the government more responsive to their present needs.

Healthcare-related bills filed by Go include the Malasakit

Center Act of 2019 (Senate Bill No. 199); increased salary for government workers, including public health professionals (SB No. 200); Advanced Nursing Act of 2019 (SB No. 395); the Barangay Health Workers Act of 2019 (SB No. 392); and the institutionalization of an emergency medical services system nationwide (SB No. 394), among others.

Go expressed his determination to address these issues through his proposed legislative measures and by fostering a better and closer working relationship between the executive and legislative branches of government.

In an ambush interview, he told the members of the press that as the head of the said Senate committee, he is very interested in how the government can maximize its budget to make quality healthcare more affordable and accessible to all Filipinos.

"After our organizational hearing, I'm very much interested sa

SENATE CORNER

Drilon vows to scrutinize 2020 national budget

Senate Minority Leader Franklin Drilon vowed Thursday to scrutinize the P4.1-trillion 2020 national budget amidst reports that the spending outlay contains at least P35 billion in “pork” barrel.”

“Whether it is pork or beef, we will find out when the budget is submitted to us. We will question it and exert every effort to weed out pork from the national budget,” Drilon said.

The Department of Budget and Management (DBM) is expected to submit the 2020 National Expenditure Program (NEP) to Congress next week.

“The minority is prepared to scrutinize the budget to make sure that every item in the budget is in accordance with the Constitution and the Supreme Court ruling on the PDAF, and is for the best interest of the public, not the lawmakers,” he stressed.

The pork barrel or the Priority Development Assistance Fund was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court in 2013.

Drilon said that how to get rid of pork barrel is a challenge to the new leadership of the Senate, particularly the Senate Committee on Finance headed by Sen. Sonny Angara.

“It’s a challenge to all of us in the Senate, particularly the committee that hears the budget each year. We are confident that Senator Angara will see to it that the budget is ‘pork-free,’” Drilon said.

The insertions of pork barrel by some lawmakers caused a three-month delay in the approval of the 2019 General Appropriations Act.

“Let us chop off pork in the budget. Anything that smells and looks like pork and bears resemblance to the PDAF system must be taken out immediately,” he added.

During his time as Senate President in 16th Congress, it was Drilon who led the upper chamber in abolishing the PDAF system.

Drilon also urged the public to examine the budget to make sure pork barrel fund will not be included in the 2020 national budget.

Symposium for social and political awareness on hemophilia conducted

TRECE MARTIRES CITY, Cavite(PIA) – The first Hemophilia Awareness Symposium for social and political awareness was conducted in the province by the provincial government’s Provincial Health Office (PHO) at the Cavite Collaboration Center for Public Health Auditorium here.

PHO Epidemiologist Dr. Nelson Soriano stressed the importance of having a Hemophilia Treatment Directory with identification cards of PWH (people with hemophilia) to be presented to healthcare providers in availing medical and dental services. He was quoted as saying: “Education is still the key along with proper information dissemination,” in order to address this condition and expressed the hope that hemophilia be included in the Universal Health Care Bill.

Hemophilia, a genetically-inherited bleeding disorder in which the person’s blood does not clot normally, remains unfamiliar to many Filipinos with about 10,000 Filipinos suffering from the disorder and only 1,500 have been registered with the Philippine Hemophilia Foundation, 28 of which are from Cavite.

The obvious unawareness about this condition by the public even by hospital personnel prompted the members of Hemophilia Advocates Philippines (HAP) to coordinate with the PHO and organize this event with the primary aim to raise social and political awareness for them to lobby their advocacy and seek legislative measures that will address the hemophilia medical condition.

Pediatric hematologist from the Korean-Philippines Friendship Hospital and hemophilia advocate Dr. Melissa Montoya shared some knowledge on pediatric bleeding disorder and tips to manage cases in children such as the application of RICE which stands for Rest, Ice Packs, Compress and Elevate.

Dr. Montoya also revealed that, “I have recommended to the Department of Health (DOH) for the allocation of Factor 8 concentrate to the Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo Memorial Hospital (GEAMH),” and this gave much hope to PWH since only a number of hospitals could handle patients with bleeding disorders.

Likewise, Social Welfare Officer III Brendalyn Salazar of PSWDO enlightened the members of the PWH with the simple procedures and requirements on seeking financial and medical assistance including requests for wheelchairs from the Office of the Provincial Governor.

She also assured them with their support stating, “Our office will lobby for the inclusion of PWH patients in the special cases like chemotherapy and dialysis patients qualified to receive financial assistance from the provincial government on a regular term.”

The event was attended by medical practitioners, city and municipal health officers, doctors and dentists from public hospitals, nurses from the rural health units, members of the PWD federation, employees of the provincial government’s Provincial Health Office, Provincial Social Welfare and Development Office, Provincial Information and Community Affairs Department, and members of HAP. tamang paggamit ng mga pondo ng gobyerno. Nakatutok ako as chair of the Committee on Health and Demography. Dapat hindi masayang ang pondo na pwede gamitin para sa pagpapagamot ng mga may sakit,” Go said.

Go said he is keen on making sure that every peso the government spends is money well spent.

“I am very much interested na walang pisong masasayang sa pondo ng gobyerno,” Go said pertaining to the alleged anomalies some government agencies are facing, including the recent issue of PhilHealth’s fraudulent claims.

During the hearing, the senator asked DOH to explain the current situation of the dengue epidemic in the country. He also inquired as to what steps the health department has undertaken and its future plans on how to address the issue.

“Kanina po, tinanong ko sa kanila, ano bang mga ginagawa nilang hakbang sa ngayon at in-explain po ng undersecretary ng DOH ‘yung mga ginagawa ng DILG (Department of the Interior and Local Government), DOH at NDRRMC (National Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Council) para po sugpuin itong dengue. Ako naman, ang payo ko sa publiko, sundin po natin ang payo ng ating DOH, ‘yung 4S (strategy) sa ngayon. Wala naman tayong mas mabisang gamot sa dengue kung hindi ang sundin ‘yung pagsugpo nito,” Go told the press.

Go referred to the DOH’s 4S strategy or “Search and destroy mosquito-breeding sites, Self-protection measures, Seek early consultation and Support fogging or spraying in hotspot areas” to mitigate the dengue epidemic.

Go also added that the public should follow the doctor’s prescription and head straight to the nearest DOH hospital, especially those with Malasakit Centers, to avail of medication and prevent the rise of dengue cases.

Immunization and the spike in cases of diseases, such as measles, which used to have low to zero cases, were also tackled during the hearing. Go expressed his willingness to show to the public that vaccination is safe.

“Hinihikayat ko po ang publiko na magpa-bakuna, lalung-lalo na po sa mga bata at wala naman po tayong dapat ikatakot. Mayroon tayong programa ng DOH,” Go said.

Before the 18th Congress opened, Go also filed SB No. 398 that seeks to expand the coverage of the existing mandatory basic immunization program of the government under Republic Act No. 10152. If amended, rotavirus, Japanese encephalitis, Pneumococcal Conjugate Vaccine (PCV), Human Papilloma Virus (HPV) and other types to be determined by the DOH Secretary, upon the recommendation of the Formulary Executive Council and the National Immunization Committee, will be included. Presently, the program only covers tuberculosis; diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis; poliomyelitis; measles; mumps, rubella or German measles; hepatitis-B; and H. Influenza type B (HIB).

“Ako willing ako na ipakita sa publiko. Magpapakakuna po ako mismo at even the President before ay willing po magpapakuna para ipakita sa publiko na maayos naman po ‘yung mga vaccine program natin,” he added.

Foundation president Aniceto Sobrepeña said during the press briefing.

The awardees underwent a rigorous selection process and were chosen from hundreds of nominations. A Board of Assessors, composed of members from the government, academe, military, and NGO sectors, identified semi-finalists through a review of documents submitted. Eighteen finalists were chosen whose accomplishments in service and community underwent the field validation process spearheaded by third-party organizations ¾ the Philippine Social Science Council (PSSC) and the Career Executive Service Board (CESB). This process verified the significant contributions of the finalists to their respective fields and communities of influence.

As a career-service award for Filipino exemplars in the academe, military, and police sectors, Metrobank Foundation Outstanding Filipino is steered by the theme, “Beyond Excellence,” and is granted to those who render service above and beyond their call of duty. Their accomplishments must have inspired and influenced their peers, as well as the people in their respective communities, and their works must have transformed a community with a lasting positive impact on people and the country.

Cavite mayor gives barangay execs one week to remove road obstructions

IMUS CITY, Cavite — Mayor Emmanuel Leonardo Maliksi has given barangay chairmen at least one week to remove the obstructions on roads and sidewalks in their areas of jurisdiction.

The one-week ultimatum was made by Maliksi in a recent meeting with concerned department heads, lead barangay officials, and special teams to deliberate on the actions pertaining to the clearing of illegal structures, vendors, and illegally parked vehicles, among others, in the road vicinity.

The mayor also created a task force that will oversee the anti-road obstruction implementation in the city’s 97 barangays (villages), particularly in markets and “talipapa” (flea markets) and other crowded areas.

Bishop to Catholic media: Use communication to build communion

A Catholic bishop has encouraged church media practitioners to explore further how communication can be used for communion building.

Bishop Mylo Hubert Vergara of the Episcopal Commission on Social Communications (ECSC) stressed the importance of communication for building and nourishing communion.

Echoing Pope Francis message for this year’s World Communications Day, he urged the responsible use of the internet to help build Christian community.

“This is the challenge for us now is the shift from communication to communion,” Vergara told the participants of this year’s National Catholic Media Congress (NCMC) on Aug. 6.

The challenge, according to him, is doing something not just on social media but how to let the people feel the love of God.

“The importance is what we do to spread the Gospel will not just stay in the social media but will also touch the hearts of the people for them to experience God’s love,” he added.

More than 180 participants from across the country joined this year’s convention held in Mataasnakahoy, Batangas.

Now on its fifth year, the four-day gathering was organized by the ECSC to strengthen the collaboration among the Catholic media.

Amid the “persecution” that the church is facing, Vergara stressed that building a community of social communicators having one voice is necessary.

“It is at this time that we cannot work alone, that is, to each his own. We need to work together given our identity and mission as one Body of Christ, one Church,” he said.

Bishop Mylo Hubert Vergara

Archbishop Gilbert Garcera of Lipa, host of this year’s NCMC, has called the participants towards the “renewal of truth”.

“The renewal for truth is our transformation as instruments of God to spread truth,” Garcera said.

Also present during the gathering was Bishop Marcelino Antonio Maralit, the incoming chairman of ECSC.

This year’s convention was preceded by the annual assembly of the Catholic Media Network member stations, whose franchises were recently renewed by the government for another 25 years. source:CBCPNEWS
